Explanatory notes

The following explanatory notes give a short overview of each item in your remuneration package:

Total package and Structuring

The total package is determined from several market surveys annually and consists of the base salary and add-on flexible package options.

You may structure your total package to include vehicle allowance and to provide for deferred payment as discussed in the paragraphs below. Kindly send an email to FSD-Remuneration@resbank.co.za in this regard on commencement date.

Base salary

On the total package, flexibility options (discussed below) are available to be tailored to your personal needs. Depending on how you elect to structure your total package, your base salary is the result of the total package less all the following flexible options:

Flexible options

Deferred payment

All employees have the option of allocating a portion of their base salary towards deferred payment in December and/or January. The deferred payment is fully taxable at each individual employee's marginal tax rate as determined by the South African Revenue Services (SARS).

Employees may opt to nominate an amount to accumulate monthly towards the deferred payment. The nominated deferred payment will accumulate monthly and may not exceed 20% of the employee's monthly total package.

Meal allowance

All staff are entitled to join the lunch club and have lunch at the Bank's cafeteria at a cost of R per annum, which amount is included in your total package as a meal allowance. This allowance is tax free if you join the lunch club. The monthly equivalent of the allowance is deducted from your taxable income each month before tax is calculated. No further rebate can be claimed from the SARS.

If you do not wish to join the lunch club, the monthly equivalent of the meal allowance will remain in your salary and is subject to tax at your own marginal tax rate.

Retirement Fund contribution

Membership to the South African Reserve Bank Retirement Fund (Retirement Fund) is compulsory for all employees who join the Bank and who are eligible to take membership in terms of the rules of the Retirement Fund. This is a defined contribution scheme and a member's retirement or resignation benefits are based on the contribution of the member and the employer plus any return on investment.

The Bank's contribution to the Retirement Fund is the only cash benefit which is not flexible, and is set at 11.5% of the total package.

All employees will contribute towards the Bank's Retirement Fund. The default contribution of employees is 5% of total package.

Employees may opt to set their own contribution at between 2.5% and 16% of total package.

Vehicle allowance

Three different schemes are available for employees to choose from. You may apportion between a minimum of zero and a maximum of 30% of your total package to be paid as vehicle allowance in accordance with your personal requirements, subject to taxation legislation.

You qualify for a vehicle benefit subject to the Bank's Motor Vehicle Policy and may opt to structure your total package to include a vehicle allowance.

This allowance will be calculated in accordance with the guidelines of the SARS. The vehicle allowance is calculated in accordance with the staff member's job level, the value of your vehicle, the average distance traveled and is in line with current market practices.

Non-cash benefits

Group Life Assurance premiums

The Bank pays the Group Life Assurance premiums on behalf of employees. The premiums are based on the employee's benefit earnings and provide employees with death cover. No further flexible option is provided.

It is compulsory for all employees to be members of the Bank's Group Life Assurance Scheme. A member's total cover is equal to five times the annual benefit earnings.

The Bank pays the Group Life Assurance premium as a non-cash benefit. The premium rate is announced annually by the Insurance and Financial Administration Division. Currently this amounts to approximately 1.77% of benefit earnings. The member pays fringe benefit tax on the premium paid by the Bank.

Medical aid subscription fees

Membership of the medical aid scheme, Bankmed, is compulsory for all staff younger than the age of 55, except for those staff members who elect to remain a member of their spouse's medical aid. Subscriptions are based on the:

- benefit earnings of the member;
- principal member's number of adult and/or child dependants;
- benefit group (one of five) in the medical aid scheme that the member wishes to elect. The available benefits per group vary in order to cater for the needs of individual members and the contributions vary in accordance with the benefits available.

If you subscribe, the Bank will pay directly to Bankmed, two-thirds of the subscription fees for yourself and subsidised dependants as stipulated in the Staff Policies.

You will be liable for the other third of the payment as well as the full contribution of the non-subsidised dependants (if any) as well as any late joining penalties levied by Bankmed. This amount, for which a rebate could be claimed in terms of the stipulations of the SARS, will be deducted monthly and be paid over to Bankmed.

Should you not subscribe to Bankmed, you will not be compensated for the non-utilisation of this benefit.

Unemployment Insurance Fund contributions

According to legislation the employer and employee should both contribute 1% of your taxable income, limited to a maximum income as announced annually, towards the Unemployment Insurance Fund. Currently this amount is R2,125.44 per annum. The Bank pays both the employee's and the employer contributions towards the Unemployment Insurance Fund as a non-cash benefit. The employee pays fringe benefit tax on the employee's contribution paid by the Bank on behalf of the employee.

Total cost of employment

The total cost of employment is the total package (base salary plus cash benefits) as well as all the non-cash benefits.

Benefit earnings

The benefit earnings amount to 58% of the total package for all levels of employees. This is the amount on which, among others, the Group Life Assurance is based.

Flexibility options

Various flexibility options are mentioned in this letter. These options will be dealt with in more detail during the induction programme, allowing you to identify the most suitable options based on:

- your particular circumstances, and
- the impact of the various options on your monthly take home pay.

General benefits

Leave

Staff members qualify for various types of leave, but the most important of these are:

In terms of annual leave, you qualify for 24 working days per year based on a 5-day week.

Employees are entitled to 36 working days sick leave with full pay over their 36 month sick-leave cycle. This 36 working days sick leave includes sick leave with and without a medical certificate.

Please familiarise yourself with the detail of all leave types as contained in the Bank's Leave Policy.

The member pays fringe benefit tax on the premium paid by the Bank.

Housing and Vehicle Loan

Loan applications by employees who are within 5 years of retirement are limited to 33% of their respective shares in the Retirement Fund. The terms and conditions are outlined in the Bank's Staff Loans Policy as may be amended from time to time.

Mortgage Bond Group Life Assurance Scheme

Policy cover against death or disability of an employee or his/her spouse is available to all employees on a voluntary basis, in order to insure the outstanding capital amount of a mortgage bond with a financial institution, or a loan, for housing purposes, granted to the member by the Trustees of the Bank's Retirement Fund. Premiums are payable by employees.

House-owner's Insurance Policy

All employees/pensioners with a private dwelling registered in their name or in which they have an insurable interest, may make use of the policy. Premiums are payable by employees/pensioners, but the additional premiums for SASRIA riot cover are currently paid by the Bank.
